HOW TO CHEAPEN TIN PLATE.

During the last fiscal year the people of the United States paid to one of the wealthiest syndicates of Great Britain $1,292,659 for tinplates, notwithstanding the fact that every single item entering into their manufacture can be found with in our own borders, and thousands of competent and willing hands are ready for the necessary work.

In view of these facts, no valid objection can be urged against encouraging capitalists to erect the necessary establishments, with the view of soon relieving the country of its dependence upon a foreign monopoly for one of the indispensable necessities to every household.

The prominent items required for making 735,737,900 pounds of tinplate bought last year, are, in round numbers, 900,000 tons iron ore, 325,000 tons limestone, 1,750,000 tons coal, 317,000 tons pig iron, 5,250,000 bushels charcoal, 5,250,000 pounds lead, 26,250,000 pounds tin, 10,500,000 pounds tallow, 3,250,000 pounds sulphuric acid, and about 11,000,000 feet of lumber.

The present tariff on tinplates is 1 cent per pound. With a slight increase to partly offset the difference in cost of labor here and in England, American capital and enterprise will be found to take hold of the business, when, so far as prices are concerned, our experience with the steel rail manufacture is likely to be repeated. But the same class of economists who fought protection to domestic steel rail manufacture, under which prices have been reduced to one fifth the former standard, are fighting protection to tinplate manufacture—and with the same arguments—alleged fear of raising the price. Blind to the teachings of experience, they deny the advantage of domestic competition in supplying the home market with home labor, in utilizing our unlimited natural resources, and insist that we shall continue to send abroad $68,500 per day for labor and materials no better than are to be found at our doors.

THE DECREASE OF IMMIGRATION.

The volume of foreign immigration at this port for the past eight months of the current year, says the New York Mail and Express, has decided falling off as compared with the same months of 1888. The total number of immigrants landed at the port of New York last year during the months from January 1st to September 1st, was 293,991. This year for the same period of time it has amounted only to 230,390, a decrease of 73,041.

The greatest decrease which has been shown in any one month of the present year as compared with the corresponding month of 1888, was in May, when the number of immigrants was 25,527 less than in May of last year.

Patriotic American citizens will not find cause for mourning in these figures. While it is true that the United States still welcomes gladly thrifty, sturdy and intelligent immigrants from other lands, it is also true that a very great part of the volume of immigration to this country of late years has not been of this class of people. We have received far too much of the dregs of the population of foreign countries for our own good. We have in this country to-day a vast number of voters whose modes of thought and action are utterly dangerous to the best institutions of republican America.

To assimilate and Americanize this element in the near future is a task of great difficulty. But it must be done if we would preserve our laws and institutions in their purity and vigor. Meanwhile any lessening of the incoming tide from foreign lands is cause for congratulation.

BUILDING HIS MONUMENT.

Among the few millionaires of the country who have always been liberal with their wealth, is the Drexel family of Philadelphia. They have for years given generously and freely to charitable institutions, but it is doubtful if they ever did a wiser thing than their latest benevolence. Mr. A. J. Drexel has just given $1,500,000 for the establishment of an industrial school where young men and women may be taught the useful and practical arts. The idea of the generous founder is to have an institution in which a thousand girls may be instructed by day and a thousand boys at night. All tuition is to be free and the school will have an assured income of $20,000 a year. Mr. Drexel's original idea was to provide a school for girls only where they might be instructed in such employment as would enable them to earn a respectable living. He proposed to erect buildings near Philadelphia where some 200 girls could be accommodated, but his plan grew in magnitude until it resolved itself into this eminently wise and philanthropic undertaking. It is almost impossible to estimate the usefulness of this noble institution, and its work will live through future generations long after the beneficent donor has gone to his reward. When wealth is put to such uses as this, millionaires are a blessing, and the rabid scream of the abolitionist or the frothing of the socialist amount to nothing.

OBITUARY.

Death of David B. Lloyd of the New York Tribune staff.
New York, Sept. 6.—David B. Lloyd, one of the Tribune staff, died suddenly while walking in the street at Weehawken, N. J., of angina pectoris. For some years past Mr. Lloyd has been suffering from heart trouble. Mr. Lloyd was born in this city in 1851. He was successively reporter of the Tribune, private secretary to Chief Justice Chase, day editor of the Tribune, its Albany and Washington correspondent, and then an editorial writer on the paper. As a dramatist he is known as the author of the plays "The Dominie's Daughter," and had just completed a play called "The Senator." Mr. Lloyd leaves a wife and two children.

"Some years ago Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of asthma after the best medical skill had failed to give me relief. A few weeks since, being again troubled with the disease, I was promptly relieved by the same remedy."—F. S. Haasler, Editor, Table Rock, Neb.

NAGLE'S INSTRUCTIONS.

HIS ORDERS FROM THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

An Insane Man Murders His Brother and Ends His Own Life—The Criminal's Record.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 6.—Several witnesses testified in the Nagle case to the dangerous character of Judge Terry. Several testified that when Terry was shot at Lathrop Mrs. Terry rushed into the room, threw herself upon her husband's body, and remained there a minute or two. When she got up she declared that Judge Terry was unarmed and called the crowd to search him for arms. The pistol found in Mrs. Terry's satchel was produced.

Justice Field was examined in the afternoon. He recounted the events leading up to the Lathrop shooting. Justice Field expressed the opinion that if Nagle had not shot Terry (Field) would have been a dead man within the next five seconds. He said the expression of Terry's face when he raised his hand to strike the second time could not be mistaken. It was full of malice and murder. Justice Field declared he had never had any difficulty with Terry of any kind whatever prior to giving judgment in the Sharon case a year ago. In fact, they had always been on the most friendly terms. Terry had often tried cases before him, and on entering court had always spoken to him pleasantly. During the last year or two, however, he had seemed entirely changed, and to have lost the respect which he formerly had for courts. Justice Field added that the story of his treating Terry to support him for President several years ago was pure fiction. As he left the witness stand the Justice remarked that he was sorry that he had not on the other side to cross-examine him. The case will probably be concluded to-day.

THE LETTER TO FRANKS.

Attorney-General Miller's Orders for the Protection of Justice Field.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—Following is the letter of Attorney-General Miller to Marshal Franks of California, which was introduced in the hearing of the case against Deputy Marshal Nagle:—"WASHINGTON, D. C., April 27, 1889.—John G. Franks, United States Marshal, San Francisco—Sir: The proceedings which have heretofore been had in connection with the case of Mr. and Mrs. Terry in your United States Circuit court have become a matter of public notoriety, and I deem it my duty to call your attention to the propriety of exercising unusual caution for the protection of his honor, Justice Field, or whoever may be called upon to hear the case and determine the matter. Of course I do not know what may be the purpose of Mr. and Mrs. Terry in the premises, but many things have happened to indicate that violence on their part may not be impossible. It is due to the dignity and independence of the court and to the character of its judges that no effort on the part of the government shall be spared to make them feel entirely safe from anxiety in the discharge of their high duties. You will understand, of course, that this letter is not for the public, but put you upon your guard. It will be proper for you to show it to the district attorney if you think best. Yours truly, "W. H. MILLER, "Attorney-General."

WORK OF A MADMAN.

A Lunatic Murders His Brother and Then Takes His Own Life.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—In one of the prettiest houses in Humboldt street, Union Hill, N. J., a murder and suicide occurred last night, and the quiet little town was thrown into a great state of excitement by the news of the tragedy. The dead men were brothers. Jake Schlaepfer, the murdered man, who was 37 years of age, was born in Newark and went to Union Hill twelve years ago with his parents. He was an able business man and soon became possessed of considerable property. He moved in the best society in Hudson county and was universally respected. John, the murderer, was unmarried. It is said that religious excitement while in San Francisco, coupled with unsuccessful business ventures there, turned John's reason.

His relations, who were well-to-do, paid his debts. John went to San Francisco and attempted to manufacture soap tubs, but failed in this also. His family then lost track of him until three weeks ago, when Jacob, his elder brother, was written to from the Philadelphia lunatic asylum, informed that his brother Jake had been an inmate, and was harmless enough to be at large, provided he was watched. Jake hurried to Philadelphia and brought his brother to his home in Union Hill. The man behaved rationally until yesterday morning. Then the town physician, Schlemm, examined him and advised Jake to look after his brother, as the latter was inclined to be mischievous. This induced Jake to mention that an asylum would be the proper place for the unfortunate John. In some manner the latter learned of the plan and said he would never go back alive and Jake would never send him. He then dressed himself in his best clothes and went out of the house, not returning until 8:30 o'clock last night. He stole quietly into the back parlor through the rear of the house and hid behind the door which opens into the front room, holding a revolver in his left hand.

As his brother Jake approached at the door the demented man put the pistol against the former's face, and hissing between his teeth, "You'll not send me to a mad house," fired.

The wounded man fell and in a few minutes expired. A child who saw the shooting shrieked, and before any one could interfere the crazy man put the muzzle of the pistol to his left temple and instantly killed himself. The wife of the murdered man, attracted by the pistol shots, ran into the parlor, followed by her three children. When they realized fully what had happened a heart-rending scene resulted. The physicians were summoned, but life in both cases was extinct.

CHOKING OFF THE FEUD.

The Hatfield-McCoy Vendetta Temporarily Checked.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Sept. 6.—The trial of Wall Hatfield has been concluded. The jury found him guilty of being accessory to the act of murdering the three McCoy boys—Tollie, aged 18 years; Randall, 10, and Farmer, 10. Alexander Musser confessed to the murder of Farmer, the youngest, and both were sentenced to the penitentiary for life. The trial was a result of the Hatfield-McCoy feud which has caused so much terror on the line of Kentucky and West Virginia during the past two or three years. It would be difficult to ascertain just how many lives have been sacrificed in this famous vendetta. Indeed, it is doubtful if anybody knows. The bloody doings of the two tribes first began to be made public the latter part of 1887, and since then scarcely a month has passed without news concerning the feud. There have been several trials, but few convictions. Now that most of the murderous gangs on both sides are dead or in prison, there is likely to be a cessation of hostilities until another generation comes on.

TWENTY-TWO NEGROES KILLED.

Pursuing Parties Shoot Down the Blacks While Retreating Arrest.

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 6.—Twenty-two negroes, and possibly more, who were working on a cotton plantation on Monday morning, now rest beneath the sod in Le Flore county, ridden with bullets. One was killed on Monday or Tuesday and the others yesterday and to-day. The leaders of the insurrection, Joseph Allen and Oliver Cromwell, have both escaped, though it is thought that Allen has been captured. Cromwell was caught in Jackson yesterday, but for some reason was turned loose. The negroes are in a frightful state of fear, and two have gone crazy over the excitement. The negroes have threatened to burn every house in Le Flore county, and every house is being closely guarded. D. D. James' store and house were burned on Tuesday night because he refused to sell the negroes cartridges. His loss was $10,000. More than 2,000 laborers have quit the fields, and the cotton and corn needs gathering badly.

THE OLD LOG COLLEGE.

THE PRESIDENT ATTENDS ITS

CELEBRATION.

Mr. Harrison Speaks to a Multitude

Gathered to Commemorate the Founding of Princeton.

LOG COLLEGE GROUNDS, Pa., Sept. 6.-

The old log college celebration, under the auspices of the Presbytery of Philadelphia, was begun Thursday on the old Tennent farm, near Harrison, Bucks county,

Pa., where the college was originally located.

The farm is about twenty miles from Philadelphia. The day's exercises were really commemorative of the founding of the Presbyterian church in the United States. The log college was established in 1720 by William Tennent, and flourished until 1749, when Princeton college was founded. It may be said that the Princeton institution sprang from the primitive college established by Tennent. When the celebration was first talked of, President

Harrison promptly assented, and he has kept that promise by coming here together with Postmaster-General Wanamaker, Mrs. Harrison, the Rev. J. W.

Scott, and Private Secretary Haffner.

The President and his friends arrived from Washington Wednesday evening and spent the night at Mr. Wanamaker's country home at Jenkintown. Early Thursday morning they started for the place where the exercises were held, driving in carriages over the old York road for a distance of eight miles. Tents had been erected on the Tennent farm and an immense crowd from the surrounding country was present. There were also many prominent Presbyterian divines. A long program of exercises had been arranged, and at 11:30 the services of the day were opened by the reading of the verse of Scripture by the Rev. Joseph

Beggs, D. D., of Philadelphia. Then followed a prayer by the Rev. L. W. Eckard of Abington, Pa., whose energetic work

the success of the day's celebration is due.

At 11:50 the President, leaning on the arm of Mr. Wanamaker, entered the large tent and was given a most enthusiastic reception. They were followed by the rest of the party, and all took front seats on the raised platform. The ladies carried beautiful bouquets. Mr. McGee, who was also of the party, received a generous ovation when he ascended the platform. As soon as the distinguished visitors were seated the first paper of the day was read by the Rev. D. K. Turner,

Hartsville. The address was descriptive of the founding of the log college. The speaker was followed by the Rev. R. M.

Paterson, D. D., of Philadelphia, President of the Presbyterian, who delivered an address on "Log College Evangelists."

The Rev. Dr. Murray, dean of Princeton college, delivered a spirited address, and

Rev. Richard McIlwaine, D.

LL. D., read a paper on "The Influence of the Log College on the South."

The President speaks.

President Harrison was then introduced and was cheered by the 25,000 present.

Mr. Harrison spoke substantially as follows:

"I have had illustrated to me here today one of the consistent tenets of the Presbyterian church. Nothing I saw here you, short of a robust embodiment of the doctrine of the perseverance of the saints

in the person of our distinguished brother,

the chairman, who has just introduced me, could have been going on steadily, and seem to be in the way of those who attend celebrations. I thank you for your hospi-

—Somewhat cooler this morning. —Business is quite lively upon the streets to-day. —Plenty of water in the river, and the mills are all running. —There is a music bottle at Helm-street's waiting for 193. —Many Janesville people are attending the fair at Rockford to-day. —Arguments in the Oakwood Retreat Association case are in progress to-day. —Base ball at the ball park next Sunday. The steamer Mayflower will make regular trips. —The watermelon agent and man with the much drawn out pieces of molasses candy will greet you at the fair. —Rock River Encampment No. 3, I. O. O. F., occupy Odd Fellows' hall this evening—regular semi-monthly meeting. —Mrs. Terwilliger, of Atton, sister of Joseph William's wife, died yesterday. Funeral to-morrow, at two o'clock, from the church at Atton. —The Centennial bakery wagon came out this morning with a fresh coat of paint, and is handsomely decorated with the owner's name. —Supt. J. C. Howe, of the Water Co., was suddenly taken with a severe chill last evening, from the effects of which he is still confined to his house. —People's Lodge No. 460, Independent Order of Good Templars, assemble in regular weekly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Court Street M. E. church block. —Olive Branch Lodge No. 36, Ancient Order of United Workmen, assemble in regular semi-monthly meeting this evening—lodge room in the Smith block, East Milwaukee street. —Last evening's special train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, en route from Milwaukee to Shullsburg, contained General Superintendent A. J. Earling and Superintendent W. W. Collins, who were on a business trip. —The party given by the milkmen of this city at Hibernian hall last evening was well attended, and the young people had an evening full of enjoyment. Smith & Anderson's orchestra furnished the music, and everything passed pleasantly. —Mr. Levi B. Carle has purchased the handsome residence of the late Mrs. Timothy Jackson, 305 South First street. Mr. Carle will soon take possession, making it his home. The property is now occupied by Ogden B. Fethers, Esq. —The whistle of the Chicago & North-western railway company, located on the round house in this city, which has been silent for some time past, undergoing repairs, was heard again at half past five o'clock this morning, its tune being the same as of old. —In the matter of Wyler vs. Welch before Justice Pritchard, the plaintiff suing for wages and the defendant claiming breach of contract. It was held a man agreeing to work for so many months and quitting before his time was out could not collect his wages pro rata. —Messrs. Russell & Jenkins have undoubtedly struck a bonanza with their patent safety nut. Mr. A. P. Russell returned home last evening with a large contract for a supply of the nuts, leaving his partner, Mr. Jenkins, in Chicago, where he is closing a much larger deal. —Yesterday the board of trustees, together with Mr. Giles and Mr. Graves, members of the state board of charity and reform, paid a visit to the Johnstone poor farm. They report perfect satisfaction with the management of everything in connection with the farm and asylum. —The district meeting of the Epworth League, which is to be held in Janesville next Tuesday, promises to be an event of much interest to all interested in christian work among young people. The public is invited to attend all the meetings. Interesting discussions will be heard at each session. —A St. Paul despatch says: "Jury Commissioners Thom and Ives, of Wisconsin and Minnesota, respectively, have decided to join in a call upon their fellow commissioners throughout the Union to meet in convention at Cleveland, November 6, 7, and 8, of this year, and discuss laws against adulteration." —A private letter from Mr. H. S. Hogboom, of Campbell, Minnesota, says that the yield of wheat is above 20 bushels to the acre, and of good quality. The country is looking up and land advancing in value. One or two more good crops will add materially to the wealth of that portion of the state. Mr. Hogboom's many friends in Janesville will rejoice on hearing of his prosperity. —The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Nickerson took place this afternoon at three o'clock, from the Baptist church, Rev. Dr. Hodge officiating. A large number of friends and relatives were in attendance, and at the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for interment. The pall bearers were: I. A. Whittem, Wm. Eller, J. L. Ford, R. Wiggins, and Nathan Dearborn. —At the quarterly meeting of the Rock County Caledonian Society yesterday afternoon, the society devoted to lease the rooms formerly used by the free library association in the Bennett block, which will be fitted up for the accommodation of the Caledonians. A special committee was appointed to take charge of the correspondence relating to the next Burns' festival, and six new members were elected. A vote of thanks was tendered to all parties who offered special prizes at the recent picnic of the society. —Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Eliza Ocon were held at St. Patrick's church this morning at nine o'clock. A large number of the friends of the departed gathered to pay earth's last tribute to her who so many had loved. The services were conducted by Dean McGinty, who spoke tender words of comfort to the mourning friends. The interment took place at Mount Olivet cemetery. J. Dee, Peter Dolan, W. Dolan, Wm. Canary, W. J. Canary, and M. Lahey acted as pall bearers. —At no place in the city is the high wind which is blowing this afternoon have a better sweep than on the Milwaukee street bridge. The despairing grip which a man makes after his hat just as it sails out of his reach is a study for the student of facial expression. The ladies hang onto their head gear with much tendency. The man who wears a "four-choice-for-twenty-five cents" straw hat has the advantage of the man with the expensive head covering, for he don't lose as much when the wind carries off his hat and whistles through his streaming locks or round his bald head. —Some time ago a well-driller came into this section of the country and apparently did a good paying business. He gave his name as William Powers. This morning he appeared as defendant, charged with deserting his wife and family and unreasonably refusing to support them. The story of his wrong as told by those who profess to know, is as follows: About two or three weeks ago he was at work near, or at Evansville. Here he left all his machinery and all his well-drilling apparatus, and it was currently reported that he had gone to parts unknown, in company with another woman. It was at this time that the warrant was issued, and placed in the hands of Officer Atheson. Since the time he left, the mortgage upon the little home at Johnston was foreclosed, and creditors have taken everything else they could, leaving his wife in very destitute circumstances. This morning he appeared upon the street and was immediately placed under arrest. He was taken at once before Judge Patterson and pleaded not guilty, his wife appearing against him. Bail was fixed at $200, and the examination set for next Wednesday at 10 o'clock.

PERSONAL MENTION.

THE COMING AND GOING OF PEOPLE WE KNOW.

—Miss Mae Guernsey is visiting in Milton.

—Mrs. S. M. Jerome left to-day for New York city.

—Mr. O. W. Hodson is in Madison on business to-day.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vankirk went to Rockford this morning.

—Mrs. A. P. Burnham is visiting her parents in Monroe this week.

—Lawyer Phillips, of Evansville, passed through the city this morning on his way to Madison on legal business.

—Mrs. Herman Buchholz, Prospect avenue, has returned from a pleasant visit with friends in Milwaukee.

—Mrs. Fred Spencer, of Faribault, Minn., is in the city, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowerman, Ranger avenue.

—Mrs. James Shearer and daughter, Miss Jessie Shearer, are in Madison. Miss Jessie will take a course of studies at the Edgewood Villa school, Madison.

—Mrs. D. H. Kelsey, who has been in the city for some time visiting her brother, Mr. Chas. D. Stevens, and sister, Miss Clara D. Stevens, Milton avenue, returned to her home in Manchester, Iowa, yesterday.

—Prof. Finlay McGregor, a noted Scotch comedian, and imitator of characters, is in the city to-day, and will undoubtedly make arrangements to give an exhibition in the near future. He is a very clever gentleman to "fall in" with, running over with laughable stories.

FROST PREDICTED.

A COLD WAVE READY TO POUNCE DOWN ON WISCONSIN.

The Evening Wisconsin: Put away your seersuckers, for the official weather prophet announces the approach of a cold wave. Sergt. Rhodes predicts a light frost throughout the interior of the state to-night and fair weather for this vicinity to-morrow. The temperature in Milwaukee at seven o'clock this morning was 56 degrees, but out in the region of the Rocky mountains, where most of our weather originates, the mercury was hovering about the freezing point. There were little frosts last night in Western Iowa and Nebraska and a killing frost in Wyoming. The rainfall during the twenty-four hours ending at 7 o'clock this morning was 2.3-5 inches. The rainfall for the entire month of August was only three-fourths of an inch.

FIRE AT CLINTON.

A CALL FOR HELP—SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION IN NAY.

Word was received at half past one o'clock this afternoon by Chief Engineer Blunk, that a smoldering fire had been discovered in a large hay barn in that village, the barn belonging to Mr. Vanderyn, and that the village authorities desired an engine to assist in extinguishing the fire, fearing serious consequences in case the fire broke out.

Arrangements were at once made to send an engine.

It is reported that the barn contains something like one hundred tons of hay, and that the fire was discovered yesterday afternoon. It is so located that much of the hay will have to be removed before the work of extinguishing the fire can be accomplished. It is feared that in case the fire breaks out of the barn, serious loss will follow. Other buildings located in close proximity will be endangered, besides a large amount of grain in stacks.

The water facilities for a steam engine at Clinton are very poor, and it is doubtful if a steam engine will be of much service in consequence of the lack of water.

The insurance men of the village are alarmed, and are doing all they can to prevent a spread of the fire.

The No. 2 fire steamer was taken to the depot at three o'clock this afternoon and dispatched to Clinton (in charge of Assistant Engineer Geo. H. Osgood, and a number of men, including Mr. John Slightaz, engineer of steamer.

THE CALEDONIANS.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE SOCIETY FOR TO-MORROW EVENING.

The members of the Rock County Caledonian Society are requested to meet in special session at the office of Dr. James Mills, on Saturday evening, September 7th, at 8 o'clock, to take action on the proposition to secure the services of Prof. Findlay McGregor, in an entertainment to be given for the benefit of the society. A full attendance of the members is requested. By order of the society. ALEX. GALBRAITH, Secretary.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 58 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 78 degrees above zero. Clear with south wind.

For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 51 and 78 degrees above zero.

LOST AND FOUND.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A COUPLE OF POWER CITY BOYS IN EDGEMONT.

A couple of young men came up from Janesville Tuesday for a burrah with the Edgerton boys, and they had it, too, though the item which they furnished the Reporter makes a good record which they doubtless do not care to see in print. We withhold their names by request, owing to the respectable connection of one of the parties. Among the congenial spirits they fell in with after they struck the town was one Frank Steele, an agent for the Lake City, Minnesota nursery. The time was spent mainly in looking through the small end of glasses over the bar at Follard's saloon so that by noon all were uncomfortably full. At the suggestion of Steele one of the young men was taken up into the latter's room at the U. S. House and put to bed. Whether he went to bed with his boots on or not is immaterial, but when he awoke at 4:30 o'clock he discovered that his gold watch and chain, valued at $150, was missing. He suspected the tree agent at once and reported the case to Marshal Spangler. Search was instituted through Steele's room and person without success. Finally as the last resort the marshals went to the barn and there under Steele's buggy seat tucked away in one corner he found the tree agent's vest with the missing watch safely stowed away in one of his pockets. Steele identified the vest and the Janesville man the time-piece. The theft was so brazen a one and the circumstances so convincing that complaint was at once lodged against him, before Justice Smith, and the tree peddler sent to the lockup. The next morning he was taken to Janesville and handed over to the sheriff and the municipal court to deal with. We learn incidentally that the owner of the watch will not appear against Steele for fear that the particulars of the little episode will come out and this exposure will follow. Perhaps the officers of the law will submit to this kind of procedure and perhaps not; we shall see later. Steele came here about ten days ago and has since been canvassing in this vicinity when he did not drink, which has been nearly half the time. Nothing is known of his antecedents or his past record. He has a good horse and buggy at the hotel waiting his pleasure. If he is convicted of the theft his address will be at Waukon for the next year or so, as the value of the watch makes the crime grand larceny, punishable by imprisonment in the state prison. —Edgerton Reporter.

LOST AND FOUND.

Mr. Frank Steele, who has been a resident of this city for some time, was arrested yesterday in Edgerton for stealing a gold watch and held at the municipal court.

Mr. Steele is in the employ of Jewel Nursery Co., of St. Paul, Minn. His business taking him to Edgerton, where he put up at the United States House, where the theft is alleged to have been committed. The watch was found in the pocket of Steele's vest under his buggy seat in the hotel barn.

Mr. Steele says he was not in the habit of wearing his vest during hot weather, but took it along in his buggy to put on at dinner simply as a matter of etiquette, and can in no wise explain how the watch came to get in his pocket. The case is set for September 11th. At the time of writing, he had employed no counsel, relying upon his previous good standing to clear him. When seen this morning, by a Gazette reporter at his home, he was feeling very blue, but expressed himself something after this fashion: "The whole thing is a put-up job on someone's part, and will come out in good time."

THESEALY PRIZE FIGHT.

GOV. HORD WILL CALL THE PRESENT OFFICERS TO TIME.

The prize fight advertised to take place in the theatre at Hurley this evening, will probably be "declared off," owing to the determined position taken by Gov. Hord to prevent such brutal exhibitions in this state. A special dispatch from Madison to the Milwaukee Sentinel, under date of September 4th, purports to give an interview with Gov. Hord as follows:—

As Gov. Hord stepped from the train here for a moment to-night on his way home from Racine he was questioned by the Sentinel correspondent concerning his order to the Ashland county authorities to prevent the proposed prize fight at Hurley Friday night.

"There is hardly anything to be said aside from what the Sentinel has already stated," he replied. "I have reminded the officers of their duty, and I meant that my orders should be enforced."

"Was your attention called to the matter in any particular manner?" was asked the governor.

"No, I saw an advertisement of the fight in one of the state papers, which was the first I knew of it. I at once took the steps I did."

"Did the recent affair in Mississippi influence you in any way?"

"Not in the least; there were laws against prize fighting in Wisconsin before the Mississippi affair was thought of, and while I am governor I intend they shall be enforced. This is no idle injunction nor suggestion on my part, but it means business. Of course I am not a constable, and cannot go in person to prevent the fight, but I propose to have the officers whose business it is do their duty. I have heard it intimated, however, that the district attorney of Ashland county has said he will not go out of his way to interfere unless some one makes a complaint."

"What will you do if the local officers neglect their duty?"

"There is a law providing that the governor may cite any peace officer to appear before him when he is in any way derelict in his sworn duty of enforcing the law, to show cause why he should not be removed."

"Will you adopt such measures?"

"Well, if that fight takes place the officers up there will be likely to hear something to their sorrow, from the region of the executive office."

"You evidently do not intend then that there shall be any prize fighting in Wisconsin."

"Not if I know it."

"If the fight takes place in Wisconsin will you take any vigorous measures, as Gov. Lowry did, to bring the criminals to justice?"

"I will do all in my power. I am utterly opposed to the brutal exhibition, on general principles, and as long as there are laws against them I propose to use every endeavor to have them suppressed."

CHICAGO'S TRAINING SCHOOL.

BY D. L. MOODY.

Every child of God should keep his eyes open to read the "Signs of the Times." Facts are the fingers of God that point us to our duty.

In our day there is a very marked growth of zeal in mission work, both at home and abroad. The problem of saving the masses in our great cities comes to the front, and must be solved. Just at this crisis, the Lord of the harvest sends forth laborers into his harvest, and never before has there been so wide spread a desire among young men and young women to get at work for Christ and for souls. Thousands are coming forward, saying "Here am I, send me."

All workmen need training both in the theory and practice of their calling. A foremost demand of our day is that of a training school for christian workers, where they can learn how to do good work for God, and put their knowledge and skill to the test by doing it.

Our colleges and theological schools do not wholly meet this want. They turn out leaders; captains of the Lord's host, fitted to plan and lead the campaign. But hundreds of volunteers and raw recruits have no time nor money for a full course of education, but want to get ready for the humbler, but quite as needful work, of the common private in the ranks. Those who have but one talent as well as those who have ten, must be taught how to use it for the Lord.

To help meet this need a training school for both men and women will open September 26th, 1889, and continue without a break the year through. All students who bring certificates of membership in some evangelical church and of good character, and who wish to prepare themselves to be of service, may join the classes, without charge, except for board (which will cost from four to six dollars a week.) Every morning will be spent in study, under the best trained instructors that can be had in this country or over the sea. Afternoons will be spent in house visitation; evenings in gospel meetings of various sorts.

The main object of this Evangelical Training School is to give the best practical instruction in the English bible, and in all that has to do with mission work of every kind. Much attention will be paid to music, as a great help in reaching men.

Chicago and the neighborhood offers a grand field for actual work among the masses of the people, and here workers may put to proof their willingness and fitness to serve God and men. This practical test is a part of the training, as it will soon lift the chaff from the pure grain and show who are worth the trouble of training.

It is believed that such a school planted in the very heart of our great northwest, and easily reached from all parts of the United States and Canada, may turn out hundreds of evangelists, lay preachers, Sunday school teachers, pastoral helpers, bible readers, consecrated singers, and give to many both the desire and the power to serve God as missionaries in this and other lands.

Special help and encouragement will be given to those who after trial show themselves willing, worthy and capable. All applications for men's department must be made to Mr. F. G. Ensign, 164 Madison street, Chicago, stating the full name, and address of the applicant.

THE OYSTER SEASON.

SOME INTERESTING POINTS—THE GREAT OYSTER BEDS OF THE CHESAPEAKE BAY.

With the advent of autumn, says the Evening Wisconsin, the oyster recaptures its place in the provision markets. It has not been entire absent during the summer months, for there are those who laugh at the tradition that the nutritious bivalve is edible only during the months whose names contain the letter "r," and who indulge in their favorite sea food year in and year out. But the cost of transportation in refrigerator cars, and the perishable nature of the oyster, compel the large majority of dealers to forego their sale, and consequently during May, June, July and August the delicacy may be had at first class restaurants only. As to the traditions of the "r," it is becoming understood that the temperature of the water in which the oysters are taken has much to do with their quality, and that if they are taken from cool ocean depths even during the hottest of summer weather they are as wholesome and as nutritious as they can be in any of the months with an "r."

Reports from New York and Baltimore are to the effect that the season has opened briskly, and that the oysters are of fine quality and quick of sale. It is said that oystermen who have been over the beds report the crop as being very plentiful.

Baltimore is the largest oyster market in the world. The beds tributary to its canneries extend down the Chesapeake and up the Potomac a distance of about 125 miles. Nearly 100,000 people in Maryland and Virginia are supported by the oyster business, the "shuckers," or oyster openers, of Maryland alone numbering between 10,000 and 12,000. The season at Baltimore will not open fully until the first of October, as dredgers are not permitted to work the beds during September. All oysters taken on the Chesapeake during the present month are lifted with tongs.

The extent of the oyster business is something remarkable. It is ascertained that the sales of the oysters in the United States last year amounted to the surprising aggregate of $77,000,000, Baltimore and New York alone having handled $63,000,000 worth, the sales of the Maryland metropolis exceeding those of New York by a round million.

With oysters plentiful and of a good quality at the beds, the consumers far distant from the seaboard will have his wants fully satisfied if pickers are careful, and if there is reasonable dispatch in transportation. In the washing of oysters there is temptation to increase their bulk by filling them with water; and the water-filled bivalve soon becomes flabby and tasteless. Delay in transportation also militates against quality.

Although it is undoubtedly true that the oyster is at its best only at the shipping ports, the oyster-packer has it in his power to give consumers in the west a good or bad article of food. And if he views the matter from the right standpoint he will see that the making or the breaking of his business is in his washing tanks.

Chased by a Snake. An exciting adventure, in which a big rattlesnake and Sesse Grishby of Grizzly Canon, occupied the chief roles, occurred near the home of the latter, when he stumbled upon a huge rattler that at once assumed hostilities, and, striking at the intruder, his fangs became entangled in the leg of his trousers, and there he hung. About that time Jesse thought of some business he had at the house, and being in something of a hurry, he started home on the double quick, without taking time to release his snakeship. It was a close race between Jesse and the rattler. For one-half the distance the snake was in the lead, and the other half Jesse would pull ahead; and thus they had it until the house and assistance were reached. It is quite safe to say that neither Jesse nor the snake ever made better time over the same distance.

FONTANA PARK.

During the month of September we will furnish first class board, with cottage, at $1 per day. September is the pleasantest month of the year at the lake.

A Tame Wasp.

Some tribes of insects are "domestic" enough, but this is far from saying that they are welcome, and in fact, of all living objects of research those of the entomologist yield the fewest "pets." Every one to his taste, however, and Reason has a correspondent who can love a wasp, and speak an appropriate word for it.

Some time ago, he says, I experimented quite thoroughly with some of these little fellows, and could not but admire their scrupulous cleanliness and remarkable good humor.

One which I called my "pet wasp" plainly evinced his delight when he was allowed to lie in the palm of my hand while I stroked him with the fingers of the other hand, almost as one would stroke a cat. He did surprise me once by stinging me, but I am convinced it was purely accidental.

The next time you have an opportunity, watch a wasp as he makes his morning toilet, and if you do not fall in love with the little fellow for his neatness, his grace, and his general good behavior, it must be because you are jealous of his accomplishments.
